DECOTO NEWS

The Decoto Discussion Group met at the home of Mrs. Katherine Goulart for the monthly luncheon and program June 3 at 12 o'clock. Mrs. Goulart had arranged a miniature wedding scene for the center of her table. The scene was complete even to a ring on a silk pillow, the whole plentifully sprinkled with rice. After conjectures on the matrimonial possibilities, Mrs. Goulart explained that it was appropriate to the month of June. The menu was most appealing for a warm day and was thoroughly enjoyed.

The book for study was "Green Mansions," by W. H. Hudson, of whom John Galsworthy said that if he were to choose one author and one only it would be W. H. Hudson. This was a meeting with a leader and each member read a selection explaining her choice and asked a question provoking discussion. The result was a vociferous session in which many original theories as to the meaning and purpose of the fantastic tale were advanced only to be discarded as unsatisfactory. The highly imaginative style and conception of the story and its elusive undercurrent of meaning were appreciated and admired.

Plans were made at this time for a picnic on June 28 with Mrs. Florence Wallace leading the discussion of the latest book of Somerset Maugham, "The Razor's Edge."

ANOTHER FIRE AT DECOTO

The Decoto Fire Department was called out at 3 p.m. Friday, June 8, to extinguish a blaze on the roof of the warehouse used by the Pearce Canning Company for storage of boxes. The fire was presumed to have been started by a spark from a locomotive. Immediate response by the fire department resulted in quick suppression of the flames, which could have caused costly damage.

RONALD SYLVESTRI IS EAGLE SCOUT

Ronald Sylvestri, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sylvestri of Centerville, is receiving congratulations this week on having been awarded the highest honor that can come to a Boy Scout, the Eagle Scout award.

In an impressive ceremony witnessed by 100 persons at a Court of Honor held in the rooms of Judge Ogden in the Alameda

RONALD SYLVESTRI

County court house, Ronald received his pin. He, and a boy from San Leandro, were the only two Scouts from the southern area to earn the award.

In presenting the pins, Judge Ogden remarked: "If there had been more scouting in the world, the present peace conference in San Francisco would have been unnecessary."

Each Scout was presented with an orchid which he, in turn, presented to his mother.

Accompanying Ronald were his mother and father, Scoutmaster, Phil Sousa and David McWhirter. The last Centerville boy to have received the Eagle award was Roy Mathiesen, now in service.

B.P.W.C. HOLD FINAL MEETING NEXT FALL

At the last meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club held at the home of Mrs. Josephine Morris last Monday night, Mrs. Rose Vieux was appointed as temporary treasurer due to the resignation of Mrs. Marguerite Crane. The next meeting will be held September 17, in Centerville.

Mrs. Morris served refreshments after the meeting to the members and to their guest, Mrs. Tillotson, president of the Hayward Business and Professional Women's Club.

Although this was the last meeting until September, the Club will continue to sponsor a ward at the Shoemaker Hospital. Miss Celeste Bunker, who is chairman of the committee for the year, will fulfill her duties during the summer.

BIBLE SCHOOL IN CENTERVILLE HAS SUCCESSFUL START

The Union Bible School of Centerville, which is operated jointly by the Presbyterian Church and St. James Episcopal Church, opened Monday for two full weeks of Bible lessons and stories for children from primary grade age upwards.

This vacation Bible school, open from 9 to 11:30 a.m., has met with enthusiastic response from children and parents alike. Not only do the children learn stories of the Old Testament and the geography of the Holy Land, but there is a recreational and handicraft period which helps to create interest.

NILES ATTORNEY MAIN SPEAKER AT GRADUATION

E. A. Quaresma, Niles attorney, delivered the commencement address at the Milpitas Elementary School graduation exercises held last night in the school auditorium. The subject of Quaresma's talk was "Tolerance."

"You are fortunate indeed to be graduating in such a memorable year," he told the young graduates. "It is a year that will go down in the pages of history—the end of the war with Germany, the passing of President Roosevelt, the United Nations peace conference in San Francisco."

Urging the youngsters to practice tolerance in all things, including racial, political and religious tolerance, Quaresma said: "It is an amusing picture to see, on the one hand delegates gathered at San Francisco working so diligently to safeguard the natural rights of the individual, and on the other hand to read and hear of acts practiced in this very country attempting to deny some of our citizens of those rights."

COIN DATED 1764 FOUND IN NILES

Nearly 200 years ago a Spanish don or vaquero, or perhaps a peon, or maybe even a Spanish padre, lost a coin in the vicinity of what is now the Southern Pacific depot at Niles. We do not know who the gentleman was, but we can give with him even now, although there's the possibility that he may simply have shrugged and said, "Oh, well, I'll find it manana."

But it was a long manana, for it was only this week, 181 years later than the coin was minted in 1764, that it came to light.

Charles Rushing of Niles was walking along the railroad tracks, when he spied this round piece of corroded metal. Being curious, he took the thing to Dr. T. C. Wilson, who burnished it off with one of his dental buffers.

Made of copper, it took on a luster, and there was the date—1764!

DINNER HONORS RED CROSS MOTOR CORPS

A dinner was held last night at the International Kitchen for the members of California Red Cross Motor Corps. Guest of the corps was Capt. McIntire of Oakland, who is captain of the Oakland Chapter of the corps.

NEW FOUNTAIN FOR NILES

A new fountain lunch, serving fountain specialties, will open around July 1 at 425 First Street, Niles, it was announced this week. Work started last Tuesday on the $6000 remodeling job, which will convert the one-time warehouse into a modern fountain.

A 34-foot counter with 20 stools will be installed, and there will be six booths. Large mirrors will line the wall facing the counter, and the effect will be heightened by fluorescent lights and a blue and white color scheme.

ADVENTUROUS PICNIC FOR DECOTO STUDENTS

The graduating class of the Decoto school enjoyed their annual picnic at Alum Rock Park last Friday. The day was an adventurous one; a truck that had been donated by Mr. Okendo of Decoto did not enter into the holiday spirit and as a result a majority of the pupils did not reach the park until afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. David Janeiro, Mrs. Schaff, and Mr. Musick accompanied the pupils.

NEW GIRLS CLUB PLANNED FOR NILES

There's good news for girls, nine to twelve years old, this week, in the announcement that a Girls' Club is about to be formed for Niles girls in this age group.

The first meeting, to be held at the Scout House Friday, June 22, at 1 p.m., will be under the supervision of Mrs. W. K. Towner and Mrs. A. W. Gorman.

The Club, which, it is hoped, will eventually lead to the formation of a Camp Fire group, is planned to take care of recreational hours for girls. Tentative plans call for picnics, handicrafts, swimming, hikes, plays, folk-dancing, needlecraft, and all other activities dear to the hearts of young girls.

All girls in the community, of this age group, are invited to attend. It is open to everyone.

ALVARADO SCOUTS PREPARE FOR BIG TIMES AHEAD

The Alvarado Boy Scouts will join with other members of the Scouts June 23 and 24, when the Southern Alameda County Division will play host to a two-day outing at Los Mochos in Livermore for the Northern Alameda County Division.

Scoutmaster of the Alvarado Boy Scouts, Joseph E. Dutra, will act as head chef on Saturday and will prepare the meal for 150 hungry Scouts. On Sunday the boys will cook their own meals separately over campfires.

Four days later the Scouts will present a special program, which has been prepared for the Boy Scout Court of Honor, June 18, at the Alvarado Grammar School Auditorium. Starting at 8 o'clock, the program will include an address by Judge Allen G. Norris of Centerville, music by Edward Petersen on the accordion, and a rope tying contest in which more than 15 Scouts will participate.

Twelve Scouts will receive promotions, among whom are three promoted to tenderfoot, Gilbert Garcia, Elmer Andrade and Tony Gilleran. The other nine boys will receive promotions to second class scouts. They are: Joseph Lewis, Vernon Machado, Glen Bachelder, Carlos Renteria, Richard Faria, Edward Petersen, Robert Wasley and Joseph Silva.

ST. JAMES MEN'S CLUB DINNER IS BIG SUCCESS

The St. James Men's Club ladies' night proved to be a jolly occasion. Arrangements for the dinner and program were made by Vice President Art Cotton and Secretary Walter Rogers. Howard Chadbourne made introductions in a humorous vein. Colored slides of the Grand Canyon were shown by Rev. T. Cecil Harns of Hayward. Mr. Harris did a notable piece of work among the Indians of the Grand Canyon prior to his coming to Hayward.

Fifty-six sat down to a delicious turkey dinner prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Vandevor, proprietors of the California Inn, assisted by their son Warren. Members of the club who served were Bob Wright, Val Tuchsien, Dallas Paul, Joe Adams, Floyd McGowan, and Joe Shepherd.

$50,000 OFFERED BY P. T. A. FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

With $50,000 being offered by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers to eligible students as a university scholarship fund, it is to be hoped that students from this area will take advantage of this offer and make application as soon as possible.

Mrs. J. S. Haines, state chairman of life membership, in her address at the installation meeting of the Irvington P.T.A. last Thursday evening, stressed the great good that this life membership fund is doing in educating young people to be teachers. (The scholarships are available only to students who are taking teacher's training). Each time a P.T.A. unit votes to award a life membership, the sum of $25 is allocated to the state scholarship fund. For this reason, students from all over the state (including Washington Township) may, if they are eligible, further their education by means of this life membership fund. Students so desiring should contact Mrs. Haines, or the proper high school authorities, to receive recommendations.

Mrs. Haines' address was well received by the large crowd of teachers and parents who attended the pot-luck and installation meeting.

Preceding the installation ceremonies, annual reports were given by the officers and committee chairmen. The new officers were presented with very beautiful corsages. New officers are as follows: president, Mrs. Leslie Hiller; first vice-president, Mrs. Merrill Belding; second vice-president, Mr. Gus Robertson; recording secretary, Miss Margaret McCready; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. Robertson; treasurer, Mrs. Roy Canright; auditor, Mrs. Edward L. Rose; historian, Mrs. Beatrice Galbreath; parliamentarian, Mrs. R. A. Griffin; delegates, Mrs. Carl Mohn, Mrs. Louise Robinson, Mrs. Frank Harvey and Mrs. W. J. Connolly.

The evening was brought to a close by community singing, lead by Mrs. Griffin, retiring president.

MRS. YOUNGMAN PASSES

A parade of Army equipment including a tank destroyer and scout car manned by overseas service men and escorted by representatives of the Sheriff's office and the California State Highway Patrol, will be witnessed in Washington Township Friday and Saturday of this week, to spur interest in the 7th War Loan Drive. The schedule as outlined by A. E. Alameda, chairman, is as follows:

LOCKER SERVICE LOOKS GOOD TO TOWNSHIPERS

"It is what the people here have been wanting and needing for a long time." This seems to be the consensus of those who have heard about it—the new frozen food locker service which is to be installed in the Burlia James Building in Niles three weeks after sufficient signers for lockers have been obtained, probably by mid-July.

"As far as signers go," said Walter Chrysler of Niles, who is handling the details of getting signatures, "we are having no difficulty at all. People here have seen the need of a locker service and are anxious to sign up for one."

There will be all modern equipment, including a smoke room, chilling room and processing room. Experienced men will be employed to take care of the processing.

All sorts of vegetables and fruits—of which there is no scarcity in season in this vicinity—as well as fish, meats and poultry can be stored in the lockers, thus saving part of the much-needed produce for out-of-season use which otherwise would spoil.

ICE FOLLIES BACK IN SAN FRANCISCO

The Shipstads and Johnson, for six years the all time favorites of San Francisco entertainment goers, will bring their spectacular Ice Follies back to this city, now their "home," on June 13th, it was announced today. Their summer showing will be at Winterland, their usual habitat.

The famous ice show, largest in the nation today, is expected to play its usual three month season in San Francisco, during which time the company will engage in production of next year's presentation.

George J. Campbell, general manager of Winterland, said that the 1945 edition of the Ice Follies will present practically all of the favorite ice stars of the past few years with a generous portion of new stars, many thrills, and a great deal of comedy.

This is the ninth annual edition of the Ice Follies and jaded Hollywood critics went into ecstasies over it when the world premier was held in the film city. It is hailed as greater than any of its predecessors.

Tickets for the Ice Follies of 1945 may be obtained now at Winterland and at Sherman Clay box offices in San Francisco and Oakland.

Mrs. Leontine Costa was guest of honor at a chicken dinner at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Carey of Santa Clara. Twelve relatives were present to congratulate Mrs. Costa on her birthday.

NILES MERCHANTS MAY GO BACK TO SCHOOL DAYS

Probability that Niles merchants and other township business men who may be interested, will have opportunity to attend a series of lectures on merchandising was indicated at Monday's meeting of the Niles Chamber of Commerce. Warren Gravestock, assistant principal in charge of adult education for Washington Union High School, told the Niles business men that if 15 persons request the course of six lectures, arrangements will be made for their presentation.

The lectures are given by the state Department of Education, which has secured top men in various fields of business as lecturers. C. W. Kraft reported to the group that Architect Irwin Johnson is now preparing a preliminary drawing of a modernized Main Street for Niles. When completed, the drawing will be presented to the chamber by Johnson.

Concern over the recent citing of drivers of buses and delivery trucks for double parking was expressed at Monday's meeting. According to state law, apparently, double parking on any county road is illegal.

Although incorporated cities allow such parking by commercial vehicles, the town of Niles has no control over the matter. Inconclusive discussion took place on the possibility of reserving a section of the street near the Peerless stage depot for stage parking. However, sentiment of business men in the neighborhood of the depot is unfavorable.

TOWNSHIP SCOUTS HOSTS AT BIG RALLY

Los Mochos is the place; June 23 and 24 is the time. The hosts? The Washington Township Boy Scouts.

All this is referring to the big camp rally to be held at the Scout Camp in the Livermore Hills for all Scouts of the southern division. Our own Boy Scouts have the honor, this time, of acting as hosts.

L. L. Lewis is chairman of the committee for arrangements, with the following assistants: Joe Dutra, Anthony Vargas, J. R. Truscott, Sam Scott, G. E. Scamman, Bob Moore and Dave Janeiro. Also assisting are Ben Lamkin, Scout executive for southern Alameda County, and Henry Gall.

Thinking Things Over ...

By VIVIAN BATMAN

LIVERMORE RODEO It was quite by accident that I found myself sitting by the darkly handsome, suave-looking gentleman with the unmistakably foreign air. I mean, after spotting him, I just pushed my way through the crowds up four flights of stairs, panting strenuously at the end of each flight, struggled past rows and rows of knees in various shapes and sizes — knees that gouged me as I went past — hurdled over the impedimenta peculiar to people who frequent rodeos, such as ten-gallon hats, cushions, pop bottles, and spurs — and whew! there I was. With two new runs in my precious stockings, my summer hat tipped crazily over one eye, a neat design of "coke" trickling down my skirt, and a bruised elbow. As I said, it was quite by accident. The reason for this insane madness to sit by this suave-looking gentleman? Well, you see, he was part of the Indian delegation to the San Francisco Conference. He, along with a number of other foreign-looking people, were guests at the rodeo. I have always wanted to visit India, but if I couldn't visit India, at least I could visit with an Indian. Here was my opportunity! Being a member of "the press" with all the natural curiosity native to one of the fourth estate, I could not let the opportunity go unnoticed. MAN OF THE WORLD The gentleman was unaware of my presence, but gentlemen quite often are; so that was nothing unusual. Thus I had a chance, without being noticed, to cast sidelong glances in his direction. He was immaculately groomed—in occidental dress, as were most of the Indian delegation. His clothes were in impeccable taste. Here is a man of the world, I thought joyously, right in Livermore. Then, the first thing you know, he was being besieged by autograph seekers. I peeked surreptitiously over his shoulder. Ah, his name! Now at last I had something to go on. He signed program after program in a peculiar scrawl—S. L. Dang. As I was sitting in the section filled with delegates, others all around also were being handed programs to be autographed — a woman correspondent from Paris, a woman correspondent from Australia, a distinguished white-haired man—the head of the French delegation — and all the other Indian delegates who were sitting behind Mr. Dang. But even situated as I was, in the midst of the delegates and press, did anyone ask ME to autograph a program? No! To a man they passed me up. My friend, who was sitting with me, noticing the slight and how it was affecting my morale, way-laid a 15-year-old autograph hound and said in desperation: "This is Mrs. Batman from the Township Register in Niles. Wouldn't you like her autograph?"

The poor lad, coloring up to the tips of his ears, stammered, "Well — you see, I-I thought you were Americans. You just LOOK like Americans." Rather a nice compliment, don't you think? But, under the circumstances, what could the poor boy do but to extend his program and ask me to sign it! BECOMES MORE RESPECTFUL Mr. Dang had been a witness to this little scene, and he immediately became more respectful of my presence. "Ah, you're with a newspaper!" he said delightedly, in perfect Oxford English. Then he wanted to know all about Niles—where, how big, etc. Forgive me, you Niles folks, for a slight distortion of the truth. I'm sure Mr. Dang will go back to India and tell people this about Niles—that it has a population slightly less than that of New York City, that it's climate is that of Paradise, and that in all of California there is no town more beautiful. Well, anyhow, I promised Mr. Dang that after I wrote him up I'd mail a copy of the paper to his suite at the Mark Hopkins. I hope that no international complications result! You are probably wondering what had been happening with the bulls and cowboys and bucking broncos all this time. Well, every once in a while I would steal a glance away from the delegation and take a peek at the show. They were doing the usual thing. I was more interested in Mr. Dang's reaction. I said to him, "Do you have anything like this in India?" He said, "Not exactly. We have the lancers in India." He then explained about the lancers. It must be very exciting. Men in armor come towards each other with spears in their hands, both after the same goal—a little peg in the ground which they have to lift with the point of their lance and hurl into the air. The way Mr. Dang described it, it sounded more exciting than riding Brahma bulls. Then he asked me about the beautiful golden horses that were coming onto the track. "Wonderful," he said. "Beautiful! We have nothing like them in India." "They are Palominos," I told him, hoping that they were Palominos. He took out his notebook and wrote down the word. It was at this point that one of his companions in back of him—a member of the Indian delegation—began to groan. "Ah, I heard him gasp. 'My stomach, it aches!'" This was no surprise to me. I had quietly, and in some alarm, observed his diet for the past half hour — peanuts, pop, candy bars, beer, and sandwiches, and a hot dog! "Your friend is apparently not accustomed to American food," I observed to Mr. Dang. He laughed heartily, showing a row of glistening teeth. "Ah, no. We do not have hot dogs in India." Then he bought a chocolate bar and offered me some. I accepted. Then, because it seemed the thing to do, I bought a chocolate bar and he broke off part of mine. Somehow or other I got the idea this was sort of a ceremony. India and America breaking bread—or rather chocolate bars—together. I felt that all was right between India and America. I must write Mr. Truman to this effect. I'm sure he will be glad to hear it. Oh, yes, the rodeo! It was very nice, what I saw of it. But one can see a rodeo any time. It is not often that you get a chance to talk with distinguished diplomats.

After hearing Mr. Dang's description of India—its interesting people, its beautiful landscapes, its superb climate—hot or cool, whichever you choose—I am more anxious than ever to some day visit that far-off land. Mrs. Maphet's Brother Visits Here Aviation Storekeeper Kenneth Bailey left last Thursday for Oklahoma City and Wichita, where he will visit more of his relatives, after a four-day visit with his sisters, Mrs. G. D. Maphet and Mrs. George Duffy of Niles. Bailey had been a house guest of the Maphets for his four-day stay. A going-away party was given for him by the Maphets Wednesday night in the form of a steak barbecue held on one of the picnic grounds in the canyon. Th guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Duffy of Niles, Mr. and Mrs. William Millet of Centerville, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Cozzi of Niles.

HASHED BROWNED POTATOES

Melt 3 tablespoons shortening in a heavy frying pan; add 3 cups chopped or finely cut boiled potatoes, heating them toward the center and away from the edges of the pan; season to taste. Cover with a lid or heavy plate; press down so that cover is right on top of the potatoes; place a box of salt or a rock on top to give pressure. Cook slowly and without turning for 15 to 20 minutes, or until crusty brown. Turn out onto a warm plate. Cut into 6 pie-shaped wedges to serve.

Dad's Day

Dad will have his day next Sunday, June 17. And the man named as the "Father of the Year" for 1945 is none other than President Harry S. Truman. For the past three years American generals have had that distinction. General MacArthur was chosen in 1942, General Eisenhower in 1943, and General Mark Clark last year.

In peace time, Dad usually received a new tie, a pair of socks, or some other such item from the family in observance of his day. But in these times the National Father's Day Committee is trying to make the giving more practical.

As part of the Seventh War Loan Drive, the committee is recommending that families present Dad with war bonds as a gift. This "Mighty Seventh," which will help to bring the fighting fathers of our armed forces home to their loved ones sooner, is being spearheaded by the nation's thousands of commercial banks which are contacting some 34 million depositors urging them to invest in war bonds.

The committee is also using this occasion to spur Americans to give greater support to America's fathers on the fighting line by sticking to their jobs, donating blood, welcoming back veteran dads with the offer of real jobs, and by supporting the war effort in every possible way.

Sentiment on Dad's Day is natural and proper, but let us express that sentiment in the way that will do the most to reunite with their families the tens of thousands of the nation's fathers who are staking their very lives in the defense of their homes and country.

FARM NEWS

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

EXTENSION CARRIES ON

"Conditions affecting food supply are likely to become increasingly difficult. Therefore the Agricultural Extension Service throughout California must continue to reach larger numbers of people with demonstrations in agricultural and home economics. The food supply of the nation must be maintained."

With this statement to his organization, B. H. Crocherson, director of the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of California, announced several local organization conferences to discuss means of reaching more rural people and methods of assisting them in maintaining high food production quotas for this critical period.

Farm Advisor T. O. Morrison, Assistant Farm Advisor P. T. Meyers, and Mrs. M. W. Holman, Home Demonstration Agent, attended one of these conferences in Santa Rosa, Tuesday, June 12.

BONDS FOR THE KNOCKOUT

Desperation of the Japanese enemy is reflected in the statement from Tokyo that every Japanese flyer is now a suicide pilot. The Japanese are desperately buying their war bonds, too.

Farmers in Alameda County have established an excellent record in the purchasing of bonds, but not in desperation. Farmers have an outstanding performance in war performance through their food production, but they realize, too, that we must increase our bond purchases for the early defeat of the desperate Japanese.

Wise farmers are aware of the cost of replacements and repairs with which they will be faced in the post war period when materials again become available, and war bonds are an excellent means of providing a reserve for this purpose.

RENEWING FINISH ON DRAINBOARDS AND TABLES

Many quick-drying finishes desirable for use on drainboards and cupboard shelves are produced by commercial firms, and application is simple.

The Home Demonstration office of the Agricultural Extension Service, University of California, has prepared such information as home makers will desire in renovating drainboards, counter surfaces and table tops. Methods as they apply to sugar pine and white pine, plywood, linoleum, stainless steel and monel metal, tile, or other surfaces will be discussed by the Home Demonstration Agents with rural women interested in renewal of these surfaces.

FARM NEWS SHORTS

To increase output of farm machinery, all production quota limitations on makers of farm machinery and equipment and related repair parts have been removed, effective July 1, 1945, the War Production Board has announced. Allotment of materials will be made by WPB.

Effective June 3, 1945, the War Food Administration announced that the quantity of beef being set aside for our government purchases has been reduced to make slightly more beef available to civilians.

SCOUT FOR INSECTS

Successful farmers keep an eye out for insects that attack their crops. Many failures are because some farmers do this too little and too late.

Farm Advisor T. O. Morrison suggests growers get into the habit of making regular and systematic small sample counts of the insect pests in or near their cultivated fields each week.

If a farmer knows what pests to look for and how to make small sample observations each week, he can detect a build-up in numbers of dangerous insects, and provide the right control in time to prevent serious damage to his crops.

Your farm advisor will gladly give information on methods of detecting these pest build-ups and how to identify the pests, as well as known methods of control.

Call upon him at the Agricultural Extension Service, Post Office Building, Hayward.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH TO CLOSE DURING JULY

In accordance with a long-standing custom, the Niles Congregational Church will close during the month of July, it was announced this week following a Sunday night meeting of the board of trustees.

The Sunday School also has made plans for closing this summer, probably through the months of July and August.

PRESERVER OF MAN' IS C. S. SUBJECT

The Christian Science Lesson-Sermon subject for Sunday, June 17, will be "God the Preserver of Man," with the golden text from Psalms 25: "Let integrity and uprightness preserve me; for I wait on thee. Redeem Israel, O God, out of all his troubles."

The sermon will include the following verse from the 91st Psalm: "Because he hath set his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him: I will set him on high, because he hath known my name."

All feed grains processed from whole grain into animal, poultry or mixed feeds have been brought under price control.

Dairy production set-asides for June and July announced by the War Food Administration include 55 per cent of June and 50 per cent of July creamery butter production and 70 per cent of June cheddar cheese production.

Removal of the 300-pound top limit on weight of hogs for which support prices are effective has been announced by the War Food Administration. Prices of all good and choice barrow and gilt butcher hogs regardless of weight will be $13 a hundredweight, Chicago basis, until September 1. The price support was broadened to aid in stimulating production for fall pigs.

Sportsmen's News

By RICHARD JOLLY

Thousands of shotguns used by the Army are being inspected and reconditioned to make them safe for use by sportsmen. Eventually the majority of these will reach individuals through bona fide dealers and when one is sold you may be sure that it is in excellent condition. These shotguns were used by the Army to teach marksmanship and when the boys come back home old-timers will meet some real competition in skeet and trap-shooting. The Army does things right.

Many sportsmen are anticipating the release of other surplus materials from the Army and Navy. Some have already purchased assault craft which will be used for striped bass fishing. These boats are made of plywood, reinforced with steel. Light in weight, they are 14 feet long with a 5 1/2 foot beam. This wide beam will certainly make for comfort since there is plenty of room for comfortable seats. However, it will take about a 10-horsepower outboard motor to push it through striped bass waters.

From time to time questions arise concerning fishing licenses. Here are a few answers. A fishing license is not required for catfishing but be sure that your tackle is for catfish only. Men in the armed forces are not required to purchase an angling license. This concession does not apply to hunting.

Boys and girls who have not reached their eighteenth birthday need not have a license. A license is required for all eighteen years or over. A license agent may not issue a receipt in lieu of a license. This means that if your license agent has sold all his licenses he may not take your money and issue a temporary receipt. For that reason it is advisable to buy your license early, preferably as soon as they are issued. Angling licenses are in force from January first to December thirty-first. This differs from hunting licenses which are issued in the middle of the year and run for twelve months. Thus a hunting license issued this year would be for 1945-1946.

If you should lose your license, visit your license agent who is now authorized to witness your signature on an application for a new license. This application with fifty cents is sent to the Division of Fish & Game and a duplicate issued. Under no conditions should you purchase a second license.

As the "Presidency of Quito," Ecuador established independence on May 11, 1930.

NOT SO MANY MEXICAN NATIONALS TO WORK THIS YEAR

The Alameda County Growers Association will meet in Pleasanton Monday night, June 18, to discuss the farm labor situation, which is even more critical this year than in the past.

The quota of Mexican nationals for California for this year is only 33,000. To this may be added more workers imported from Jamaica, 900 of whom will arrive in California July 1. Some Jamaicans have already arrived; there are 30 working in the Brentwood area. But growers seem to prefer the Mexican nationals to the Jamaicans due, probably, to the fact that the weather in Jamaica has not been much of an inducement for laborious effort.

But even the Mexican nationals who worked here last year will be harder to get this year. Many have been working in the citrus orchards in the south, and have renewed their contracts there. Others, numbering 5 or 6 thousand, have been lost track of entirely, straying to all parts of California.

The growers of this area have considered importing war prisoners, but there were many delaying factors which postponed this movement.

SOMETHING TO BEHOLD

Time and again people have put the question to me: "What do you as a foreigner think of our country?" Here finally is the true answer—for my description of the journey we undertook is strictly just that. I was born and raised in the southern part of Germany but Pedro where they visited relatives. While there they spent a day at Balboa Park and saw the mission at San Juan Capistrano as well as other points of interest. They said they experienced no trouble in transportation.

Mrs. Norbert "Jimmy" Brown of Hayward was a week-end guest at the home of her in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Brown.

Miss Virginia Lawrence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lawrence, underwent a tonsilectomy on Saturday at the office of Dr. Holman in Centerville and at this writing is up and around.

Mrs. Irene Martinelli and daughter Tosca and her sister-in-law of San Francisco visited some of their old friends in the Mission one day last week. They were former property owners of what is now the Bailey ranch. Her son, Frank, of the Navy, is now in Hawaii.

Visiting Mrs. Lillian Ladigus at her home in the Mission is Mrs. Milton Scott of Petaluma. She expects to spend most of her summer here.

Mrs. Hortense Andrade who was confined to her bed for a week with the flu, is now up and around and back to the old routine of farmette.

On Tuesday of last week the Mission fire department held their annual B-B-Q (chicken, not steak) at Linda Vista Park, and a grand time was had by all. In spite of the fact that there were no steaks, the beautifully-done fowls and all the other delicious food was stowed away by the members and their families. Dancing and games rounded out a fine evening, even though it was a bit nippy around the edges before the evening was over.

to Niles, with her husband, from New Jersey, where she lived with her parents after fleeing from the Rhineland. If you enjoy Mrs. Povar's articles, drop us a card and tell us about it.

my father, being of Dutch nationality, was induced to leave that country for Holland in the summer of 1937. There we spent two precious years that were only disrupted by the war clouds gathering above our heads, and at last we said "good-bye" to old Europe at Paris, boarded the S.S. Manhattan, and arrived for a new life in the New World on March 30, 1939.

But more of that Atlantic crossing at another time. Right now I'd like to tell you about the trip my husband and I made here to the great West a few weeks ago. He is a veterinary-pathologist at Kimber Farms in Niles, and I as a soon-to-be student at Stanford University. Here is a hearty "hello" to all my new neighbors and a friendly greeting to the town of Niles from both of us!

To undertake a journey is a wonderful thing no matter which way it leads and when. It brings you closer to your fellow human beings and to nature. It teaches you to appreciate the gift of life and the whole creation around you.

I know, for I experienced all this and more in crossing this vast country from shore to shore. I saw twenty-five of its states and realized that each of the twenty-five is a complete world in itself. I would like to tell you about all that I found of interest from the little state of Rhode Island to the great plains of "your" California. I find it almost too much for just a pen to express and really paint a true picture of the glorious beauty of America.

Marriage and all other "minor" tasks completed in the early part of April, 1945, we set out from Vineland, New Jersey, to the New England states. Time was with us for we left sunny southern New Jersey when trees were green and the sun shone on its flat sandy ground for days on end.

Driving north we experienced a cooling-off of the temperature and when we reached Rhode Island, our ultimate destination in New England, the thermometer had dropped considerably.

CHANGE IN LANDSCAPE

On entering the northern states we observed a sharp change in landscape and scenery. Where there had been endless level fields in New Jersey, appeared wooded hills and rolling country. The Atlantic's foamy waves broke against cliffs where in the south they washed onto sandy beaches.

The northern part of New Jersey is a slow transition from one to the other but leaves you unprepared for the strict change after the borderline.

The people, too, are different—they have a reserved air about them, yet are friendly enough on closer acquaintance. The great-grandsons of sturdy pioneers are just as sparing with words as their brave ancestors of two hundred years ago.

RHODE ISLAND CONFORMS

Rhode Island conforms very much to its New England neighbors, its people and its land being about the same. I had a good chance to study their mode of life as we stayed a few days with my husband's brother, also a veterinarian. Here I was initiated into the secrets of an animal practice. I saw dogs treated for all possible ailments and cats practically handcuffed before an operation. I studied the variance in the characters of the different species and even helped to deliver a calf. I drove out on calls with my husband and brother-in-law to the green pastures of the Rhode Island and Massachusetts countryside where golden Jerseys and black and white Holstein cows graze in lazy comfort. I learned to like the quiet New England farmer who seldom opens his mouth for speech but only says what he is deeply convinced of. I grieved with him for the loss of a cow, a calf, or a heifer—and enjoyed his good luck as well.

As much as I regretted leaving Rumford and Providence, Rhode Island, after our short stay, I looked forward to the time to come.

For our next stop, New York itself, was scheduled. There we had to pick up our car, say a few more "good byes" and start the westward part of our journey.

AND NOW NEW YORK

To describe the great metropolis of New York is as hard a job as anyone can set for himself—the old saying prevails—New York City can only be lived in to be truly understood. Its tall, skyscraping buildings, its roaring subways, the rushing traffic of Broadway and Forty-second Street (Times Square) do not have their equal in the world. Upon being plunged into New York City's noisy life, you feel lost, a sensation of helplessness takes possession of your soul and you are frightened like a child. The unimportance of the individual human being is impressed upon you with such force that you feel like a minute kernel in the sand of time.

Soon the stream carries you along; you get familiar with the wide, bright streets and the enormous stores of the city. You profit from its countless opportunities for entertainment and education, and you have fallen for the peculiar charm of New York.

TO THE CATSKILLS

It was refreshing, like a cold shower after a hot day, to get into the hills of the Catskill Mountains of upstate New York after the haste of the city. The country once more cast its spell on us as we went westward, crossing the Bear mountain range. The blue curves of the Hudson River rolled a few hundred feet below as we drove over the famous, picturesque Bear Mountain Bridge which connects the shores of the Hudson.

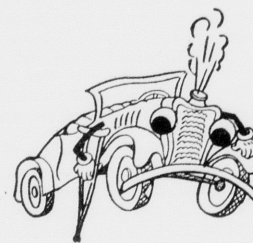

One little town or village after another appeared from its hiding place between the wooded mountain as we climbed and descended hill after hill. The further we got the more wonders of beauty and majesty in nature revealed themselves to our eyes, and on we drove to our next goal—Cornell University.

(To be continued next week.)

TOYON BRANCH SIGNS UP FOR FROZEN LOCKERS
Mr. Chrysler, Niles furniture store proprietor and agent for the frozen locker service about to be installed in Niles, was the guest speaker at the last meeting of the Toyon Branch of the Children's Hospital of the Eastbay, held at the home of Mrs. Tom Robbins Monday afternoon.

Mr. Chrysler gave an illuminating talk on the advantages of renting a frozen food locker in which can be stored a large variety of fruits and vegetables, in addition to fish, poultry and meat. The idea caught on, with the result that Toyon members present at the meeting signed up for lockers 100 per cent. The club will be given one dollar for each signer, the accumulation of dollars going, of course, to the Children's Hospital.

The next meeting of the Branch was set for June 25, to be held at the home of Mrs. A. W. Gorman.

Elizabeth Leal Becomes Bride of Cpl. Andrade
By LOIS JUSTUS
United in marriage at St. Mary Church in Walnut Creek, Miss Elizabeth Leal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leal of that city, became the bride of Corporal Elmo J. Andrade of the Mission, son of Mrs. Hortense Andrade.

The bride, beautifully attired in a shimmering white mid-Victorian gown with very long train and finger tip veil held in place by orange blossoms and carrying a white prayer book and rosary and wearing an orchid corsage tied with contrasting ribbon, was given in marriage by her father.

Her sister, Lorraine Leal, wore a cunning little Dutch hat of white lace net with a long bodiced white lace dress of the same material as the hat, and carried a beautiful old fashioned bouquet of sweet peas and roses.

Sgt. Joseph Kintana of the U. S. Marines, stationed at Alameda and a buddy of Corp. Elmo, was the best man. His home is at Sacramento.

Sorporal Andrade is a veteran of four major engagements in the southwest Pacific at Tilaugi, Guadalcanal, Tarawa and Saipan. It was in this last engagement that he was wounded and sent back to the U. S. where he has been for the past year. He was over there for 27 months. He wears four major engagement stars, two presidential citation stars and the Purple Heart. He is stationed at Alameda Airport at present.

Following the ceremonies at the church, there was a reception held for the young folks with relatives and friends attending at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Duarte, of Walnut Creek. A lovely three-tiered bride's cake centered the table and a buffet luncheon was served to the guests.

The newly weds have left on a short honeymoon as Corp. Andrade reports back for duty on the 21st. They will make their home in Albany where Mrs. Andrade is employed.
